

CONTACT:

ADVODA Communications
Hilary Fox
hilary@ADVODA.com
720.227.0341

ADVODA Communications Honored by Qwest as Top QMOE Partner for 2009

Greenwood Village, CO (January 18, 2010) – ADVODA Communications, a master agent based in Colorado, was honored at a special Qwest Communications event on January 14th as the Top QMOE Partner for 2009. Qwest Metro Optical Ethernet (QMOE) is Qwest’s popular Ethernet over fiber, metro area network product that provides businesses with low relative cost, scalable and secure bandwidth. The award is given to the Qwest Partner with the most new QMOE locations and revenues for the year. ADVODA also received the Top QMOE Partner for 2008, making this the second time to be recognized. Qwest maintains relationships with approximately 250 direct partners, making this a very elite distinction.

ADVODA recommends QMOE for a variety of customer situations including Internet access, point-to-point solutions and multi-location environments. The service has shown to be highly reliable and generally offers more affordability and flexibility than comparable solutions.

“When QMOE was first released in 2003, we recognized the potential that it represented to clients. QMOE is a wide area network deployment of the primary local area networking technology used in the world today. With the capability to implement a product that allows you to change the effective speed (throughput) and do the transporting in a much simpler manner than routing, QMOE was destined to become the accepted manner to move data in the industry. When we combined that with the ability to build private networks utilizing Virtual LAN connects, much like the old days of frame relay and PVCs, we discovered a powerful combination”, said Ron Dunworth, President of ADVODA. “For many of our customers, this has transformed the way they do business and really paved the way for powerful tools like cloud computing. We are proud to be at the forefront with this product.”

“ADVODA embraced the QMOE product from the beginning and demonstrated their understanding of this product’s value. They are very deserving of this award and we are honored to have them as one of our Premier Master Agents,” said Mindy Powers, Director of Sales at Qwest.

With more than 300 locations provisioned on this service by ADVODA and its network of independent agents, QMOE has a promising future. ADVODA will be striving to take home the award again for 2010.

About ADVODA Communications

ADVODA was founded on the principle of providing a superior customer experience for obtaining and maintaining telecommunications services. ADVODA partners with carriers and service providers to design telecommunication solutions from complex voice and data networks for global enterprises to voice and internet service for a single-location small business. ADVODA also supports a diverse group of independent telecom agents, network consultants and hardware vendors in providing services to their clients. For more information please visit www.ADVODA.com.